CHAUTAUQUA NEXT YEAR IS PROBABLE

MANY GUARANTORS SECURED IN SHORT TIME LAST NIGHT

'BROADWAY JONES' GOOD

Week Closes Tomorrow With Entertainment by Magician, Juggler and Blackface Comedian

Boosters for Chautauqua chose a strategic moment last night to launch their campaign for another program next year. The third act of "Broadway Jones" had been completed, and the audience was in a thoroughly favorable frame of mind. A good sized list of guarantors was secured in fifteen minutes, and the play was then resumed.

G. W. Knight, superintendent, and several local men are canvassing the business district today to secure additional guarantors, and a Chautauqua again next year seems probable. Although the guarantors worked under serious handicaps this year, the $1,800 guarantee was finally met, and a commission was turned over to the local committee.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon, eighty-seven signers had been secured. Several of them signed the guarantee list with the understanding there would be 200 signers on the list.

It would be hard to pick a star from the well balanced cast that presented "Broadway Jones." From William Keighley, playing the part of "Broadway," to Elmer Johnson as Sammy, the acting was good, voices carrying to the remotest sections of the tent.

The plot itself, the young spendthrift who goes broke on Broadway, decides to marry a rich but silly widow twice his age, and then meets the one girl, gave opportunities for hilarious comedy.

After the Gondoliers tonight, Chautauqua will close tomorrow in a blaze of glory. In the morning there will be a lecture on "Master Minds of the Centuries," by Dr. Richard S. Martin. Dr. Martin was successor to Bishop Robt. McIntyre during the former's ministry of 15 years in Chicago. He has written ten volumes of prose, poety and history. He holds the following degrees: M. D., D. D., D. O., D. C., and L. L. B. For twenty years he has been a lecturer much sought after by fraternal societies, universities and conventions.

In the afternoon, the children of Junior Town will give the "Mother Goose Party," on which they have been working hard all week under the direction of Miss Eloise Smith. Then will come an entertainment by Al Baker, ventriloquist, Youna the juggler and Billy Pryor, blackface comedian.

Al Baker's dummy friend, Dennis, has made Al famous all over New York—Al's home town—and there's a reason—Al and Dennis have about the best run of jokes on the market. Al Baker's name big-types many of the Metropolitan dailies for his ventriloquism and his mysteries.

Youna, the juggler, has an animated tea chest trick that's worth the whole show. He learned it from the greatest jugglers of Japan. He has exhibited his tricks all over the world.

Billy Pryor is a blackface comedian and banjoist extraordinary. Billy sings, jokes, and gives banjo specialties. He is the funny man you hear on your Edison. He won his early fame as end man in the Pringle Minstrels. Billy can give an entire two hour show all alone.

Baker, Youna and Pryor will appear again in the evening to start off JOY night. The final blow to Old Man Gloom will be handed by Jess Pugh, known the world over for his laugh makers. He has his famous "Muel" story, "At the Movies," "The Snuff Stricken Reader," and a pile of new side splitters. He will be assisted by Thelma Gay Baxter, contralto.

Many Happy Returns, Missouri!

Today is "the day" in "Old Missouri". The "Show me" State is celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of her admission into the Union, and in cities and towns programmes in honor of the Centennial are being carried out.

It was 239 years ago when La Salle, the great French explorer, after slowly making his way up the Mississippi River, struck out across Missouri's soil seeking riches—the pot of gold at the end of the wanderer's rainbow.

More than a century elapsed before hardy pioneers came to establish trading posts from which hunters trekked into the wilderness to return laden with fur pelts.

In 1812 Missouri became a territory. In 1818 it applied for Statehood, but the troublesome days of the "Dred Scott Decision" and the Missouri Compromise of 1820" followed, and it was not until August 10, 1821 that Missouri become a State and a new star was set in the blue field of the American flag.

Another hundred years have passed, and today, in the land where a century ago only thousands toiled and labored and called their rough habitations "home", millions of contented Americans now dwell in comfort in communities famed broadcast through the land for their progressiveness.

In official commemoration of today's anniversary a great centennial is being held at Sedalia, in connection with the annual State Fair.

An historical pageant is one of the chief features of the centennial in which hundreds are taking part, portraying before a great scenic panorama the events in Missouri history from the day the white man came.

Missouri pauses today to gather around its birthday cake of prosperity, bright with a hundred candles. Tomorrow it sarts a new epoch, to "carry on" for greater prosperity and happiness perpetual.

ABSCONDING TRUST HEAD IS NOW SAFE IN MEXICO

Only Way to Arrest Him is To Shanghai Him From Mexico, Says Detective.

Marqua, Tex., Aug. 10.—Warren Spurgin, the absconding Michigan Ave. Trust Company president of Chicago, is still at the hacienda of an American friend on the outskirts of Chihuahua City, Mexico, and is not under arrest according to reports received here today. The only way of arresting Spurgin, declares the district manager of a national known detective agency, is to shanghai him from Mexico.

HIGH SCHOOL ANNEX WILL BE FINISHED BY SEPTEMBER

Work in Gymnasium May Last a Week Longer, But It Will Not Interfere With Studies.

The annex to the Maryville high school will be completed and the building ready for school by the time school starts next month, said S. Muir, superintendent of construction, this afternoon. The top story, which will be used for home economics and commercial subjects, is getting its interior finishing this week. With the laying of the floors and the finishing of the doors and windows, which will be done next week, that part of the building will be completed.

There is a little more work to be done on the gymnasium and it will probably not be finished until almost the first of September, or perhaps it will even run over into the first weeks of next month, but the work done on that will be of such a nature that it will not interfere with school work.

The contract for the plumbing and heating fixtures is not included in the contract for construction, which is held by the Lear Construction Company of St. Joseph. Much of the plumbing has been done at the same time with the other construction. The heating plant has been worked over, and new radiators have been installed in the old building.

The annex will be heated by the same system used in the old building, with the addition of one new boiler. The heating plant for the school then will include three boilers. It is expected that the plumbing will not be entirely finished by school time this fall, but only work in the basement, which will not interfere with school, will remain to be finished.

GOVERNOR SMALL BACK AT OFFICE AFTER GIVING BOND

Was Arrested Late Yesterday After Three Weeks of Resistance—Surety for $50,000.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 10.—Governor Small appeared at his office today as usual following his release on bond after being arrested late Tuesday on a charge of embezzling the state interest funds.

Governor Small, after resisting arrest on indictments charging embezzlement and conspiracy for three weeks on the plea of executive immunity or that "the king can do no wrong," as stated by his counsel late yesterday afternoon finally submitted to Sheriff Mester of Sangamon county after the latter had besieged the state capitol with deputies for several hours.

The governor protested his arrest until the last, charging persecution and asserting his innocence, but the sheriff was adamant and insisted on taking the governor from the executive mansion to the court house where Abraham Lincoln used to practice law, before accepting the bonds. There the governor gave surety for $50,000 and went his way to await trial on the charge of defrauding the people of the state of some 2 million dollars while state treasurer through alleged failure to turn over to the state the proper interest on state funds.

GOVERNMENT TAXES $600,000,000 LESS

CONGRESS WINS IN CLASH WITH TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

IS $6 LESS PER CAPITA

Excess Profits and "Nuisance" and Clothing Luxury Taxes are Slated for Repeal.

Washington, Aug. 10.—In the first clear cut clash between the legislative and executive branches of the government under President Harding, Congress has emerged with a decisive victory over the Secretary of the Treasury, as a result of which federal taxes during the next fiscal year will be approximately $6 lower from every person under the provisions of the new tax revision program being decided today by the ways and means committee.

There will be a reduction of $600,000,000 in the government income. Specific tax reductions on which it was announced agreement was reached, included:

Repeal of one-half of the transportation tax, effective next Jan. 1, $130,000,000.

Repeal of the excess profits tax, retroactive to Jan. 1, last, $450,000,000.

Repeal of the so-called nuisance and clothing luxury taxes, $50,000,000.

As an offset against this cut of $720,000,000 it was agreed to increase the income tax on corporations by probably 2½ per cent, instead of 5 per cent as heretofore proposed as of last Jan. 1, to yield an additional $125,000,000.

Decision was had, it was said, to abandon all new taxes suggested to the house committee last week by Secretary Mellon, including a license on automobiles, tax on bank checks and an increase to 3 cents in the first class postage rate. Republicans of the ways and means committee are to meet tomorrow to direct a new revenue bill on the basis of the revisions agreed upon, and leaders said it was hoped to have it ready for a conference of house Republicans next Monday.

RUNAWAY BOY IS TAKEN FROM CIRCUS TRAIN HERE

Lee Edwards, a 15-year-old boy, who gave his home as Kirksville, was taken off the circus train last night by Night Watchman Ed Wallace, when he and a special agent of the Wabash railroad made their rounds before the train left Maryville last night.

Edwards left his home in Kirksville about five days ago and went to Kansas City where he got a place with one of the concessions of the circus and has been with them until they started to leave here last night. As he was not with the main body of the circus they refused to claim him and he was taken off the train because he was too young to be with the circus.

Mayor F. P. Robinson and Prosecuting Attorney Charles McCraffrey got in touch with Edward's parents in Kirksville. They have been looking for the boy several days and he will probably be returned.

CROWD LIKES SHOW AFTER IT GETS IN

THOUSANDS ARE KEPT STANDING IN DENSE MASS

PAID NO CITY LICENSE

Although they were disappointed by the failure of the circus to arrive in time to give a parade, the majority of one of Maryville's largest crowds had a good time yesterday, after the show was once under way.

The circus was very late in arriving here, the first section of the train pulling in shortly before noon. The management announced that it would be impossible to give a parade on account of the late arrival, and it was 4 o'clock in the afternoon before the first performance started. Considerable dissatisfaction was created when the immense crowd was kept waiting before the general admission ticket wagon for several hours before the sale was commenced.

While it was announced that the parade had been canceled only because of lack of time, the skeptical pointed out that if the circus had paraded, the company would have had to pay a license fee of $100 to the city, which they escaped by changing the place of exhibition from the Holt pasture, within the city limits to the Harrison pasture, just outside.

The city added nothing to its revenue from the circus, according to Mayor F. P. Robinson. There was not only no license fee paid by the company, but the city was put to about $60 extra expense for additional police.

He did not think the circus had chaaged grounds to avoid payment of the license, however. A contract was signed several weeks ago for the show's appearance here, and the circus men knew the conditions under which they would be permitted to show, the Mayor said. The circus officials said the change was made to allow them more room.

Maryville had one of its largest crowds yesterday. The "big top" the capacity of which was given by the circus officials as betweent nine and ten thousand, was filled for the afternoon performance and had a good crowd at night. The people began arriving early and waited patiently for the circus to arrive and for the parade. Some of the crowd left after it was announced there would be no parade.

The merchants, who offered special inducements to circus shoppers, reported a good business for the day. One store reported more business yesterday than any day this summer.

No complaints have been made to the county authorities or to city officials about short change men or gaming. There were several rumors that some of the people had been given the wrong change, always too little. A "three card game" and a roulette wheel were also operated in a side show tent, with some heavy losers. While they were unable to get much evidence, the county authorities stopped these games as soon as found and notified the circus management that they would not be permitted.

One of the circus managers reported he was well pleased with his day's business here. He said the company had not been paying expenses on a good part of their trip, but that the attendance here was as great as it had been in some of the cities. He said the company would probably consider Maryville on their tour for the next year or so.

Restaurants and jitneys did a capacity business.

SAYS SWEARING IS SENSELESS HABIT

APPEARS IN FULL TIGHTS

Former Wrestling Champion, at 60, Has "Most Marvelous and Perfect Physique."

"There are five main reasons why I am with the Redpath-Vawter Chautauqua," said "Farmer" Burns, famous wrestler to a Democrat-Forum reporter this morning. "They are these I don't drink liquor, I don't smoke, I don't chew tobacco, I don't drink tea or coffee, and I don't swear.

"It may seem strange to you that there is a connection between swearing and wrestling, but there is. It is a filthy and senseless habit, and is the beginning of all bad habits."

"Farmer" Burns has wrestled over 6,000 matches in his life and has only lost seven of them. His first match was when he was 8 years old and wrestled for fifteen cents.

In the spring of the year 18889, Martin Burns went to Chicago. While roaming the streets of that city he noticed a sign saying that Jack Carkeek and Evan Lewis, "The Strangler", would meet all comers, and that $25 would be given to anyone staying with either of these men for fifteen minutes or $2 per minute for every minute after seven had elapsed. Garbed in a suit of overalls he held each of these men, noted wrestlers of their time, to a draw.

It was then that his fame began. Now he is rated as one of the two greatest wrestlers that America ever turned out. The other man was Fred Beell. Both of these men have met and defeated many noted wrestlers.

"Farmer" Burns will also be remembered as the man who trained Gotch. Burns "found" Gotch, at Fort Dodge, Ia., December 19, 1899. He saw his work and promised to make him champion. This promise he made good.

Burns also claims the destinction of being the champion wild animal wrestler of the world. One time he threw a bear two straight throws for a bet of a dollar a throw. The second fall he pinned both of the animals ears to the ground.

He is also the champion stick puller of the world. He will grasp a stick with anyone and guarantee to outpull him.

"Farmer" Burns has one of the most muscular necks in the world. The muscles stand out like ropes when he tightens them. He claims that there is not a man in the world who has such a neck, and he says there is not a man who can take hold of his ears, when he is lying down, and lift him from the floor.

He claims to be the only man alive who can take a broom handle between two of his fingers nails and lift it in the air.

The "Farmer" appeared this afternoon at the chautauqua in full tights. Although not a learned man, he has a heart overflowing with human sympathy and he talks in an earnest and interesting way. His talk this afternoon was on the subject, "How to be healthy and honest."

UNIDENTIFIED MAN FOUND MURDERED

BODY DISCOVERED IN CORNFIELD NEAR BRADDYVILLE.

WOMEN'S TRACKS SEEN

Victim Had Bullet in His Head and One in Breast—About 25 Years Old.

The unidentified body of a young man about 25 years old was found in a cornfield on the Frank McKee farm two miles from Braddyville, Ia., between 4 and 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A bullet wound in his head and one in his breast, and the traces of a car and other tracks near there, led to the belief that he had been murdered.

The coroner at Clarinda, Ia., stated the young man's death occurred at least five days ago. He was found lying with his face down, about thirty feet from the road. The McKee farm is on the main read from Clearmont to Clarinda. Tracks indicated that he had been carried or had walked from the fence for at least twenty feet where a pool of blood was found. From that distance to where the body lay it appeared that he had been dragged by his heels.

Tracks of women's high heeled shoes of two sizes showed that two women had been in the party. The track were plainly seen, as the affair had apparently occurred after a rain when the ground was drying. Mr. McKee found the body while plowing yesterday afternoon.

A party in the Braddyville community returning from Clarinda about 2 o'clock last Friday morning noticed a car with a Missouri license parked beside the fence near where the body was found, but paid no heed to it. A cigarette tag was found by the authorities and will be used in hunting clues.

The young man had coarse, wavy red hair worn in pompadour style, wore soldier's trousers, shirt and leggins, although the latter were not according to regulation.

He was apparently about 25 years old. The grease on his hands and clothing gave the impression that he might have been a mechanic or machinist. A twenty dollar bill was found in one pocket and two dollars in another. Nothing else was found of valued and there was nothing for identification.

The body was taken to Clarinda, where scores of people are viewing the body today.

LINVILLE HOTEL BUS HAULS RECORD CROWD LAST NIGHT

The Linville Hotel bus carried what is thought to be the largest number of passengers ever transported in a bus of that kind last night when forty-five men were carried from the circus grounds to the Wabash depot. The load consisted entirely of men and they were piled inside and out, on the floor, on the dash, on the fenders, and over the hood.

The bus was driven by K. C. Lightfoot, who contracted for its rental. A man came up to him and said, "How much for the bus for a load to the Wabash?"

Lightfooot told him, supposing that the regular twelve person load was what he meant. The man returned in a few moments with the "load" Not to be outdone, Lightfoot told them to climb on and he made his way through the business district with his cargo.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN NODAWAY COUNTY

TAXES, TAXES AND MORE TAXES

Secretary Mellon has offered definite suggestions to Congress as to how to raise $4,600,000,000 for the government. The Secretary has astounded Congress, and if he has astounded Congress, he has flabbergasted the county. Mr. Garner of Texas, a capable and experienced legislator, long a member of the House Committee on Ways and Means, is quoted as having said that "everyone of the Secretary's proposals constituted a shifting of the tax burden from the classes to the masses." And Mr. Garner is right. Observe the nature of the proposals and you will agree.

First, we are to have a flat tax of horse-power or initial cost. The poor man's flivver would have to pay $10 on automobiles, regardless of as much as the Rolls-Royce of the millionaire. There could not possibly be found a more unpopular mode of taxation.

Second, we are to have a return of three cent postage, not altogether for revenue purposes, by the way, but in order that the deficit accumulating in the Post-Office Department under the present administration may be covered up. This is a poor man's tax if there was ever such a thing.

Third, we are to have a tax of two cents on bank checks, a reminder of the Spanish-American war days. This will prove to be an annoying inconvenience, harassing business, and taxing the housewife's checks for her household bills.

These are the new taxes. What are the taxes that are to be reduced?

The excess profits tax is to be repealed, and the normal corporation income tax increased from ten to fifteen per cent.

The transportation tax is to be reduced fifty per cent, and then repealed after the first year. The poor man doesn't travel, so he will not be relieved of any burden; he merely will assume new burdens, in order to pay for the deficiency caused by lifting this tax. As Mr. McAdoo said if the people will travel without necessity, let them pay for it. And the poor man doesn't.

The surtaxes on incomes from $6,000 to $50,000 are to be reduced, where they reach the point of forty per cent, by eliminating all above the percentage.

As a thin sop to the laboring man, the tax on ice cream soda is to be lifted.

Taxes, taxes, and then more taxes Where is that Democrat laboring man who voted the Republican ticket last fall to "get rid of taxes?" The Democrats taxed the wealthy; the Republicans propose to lift the burdens of the rich and tax the poor! —Missouri State Journal.

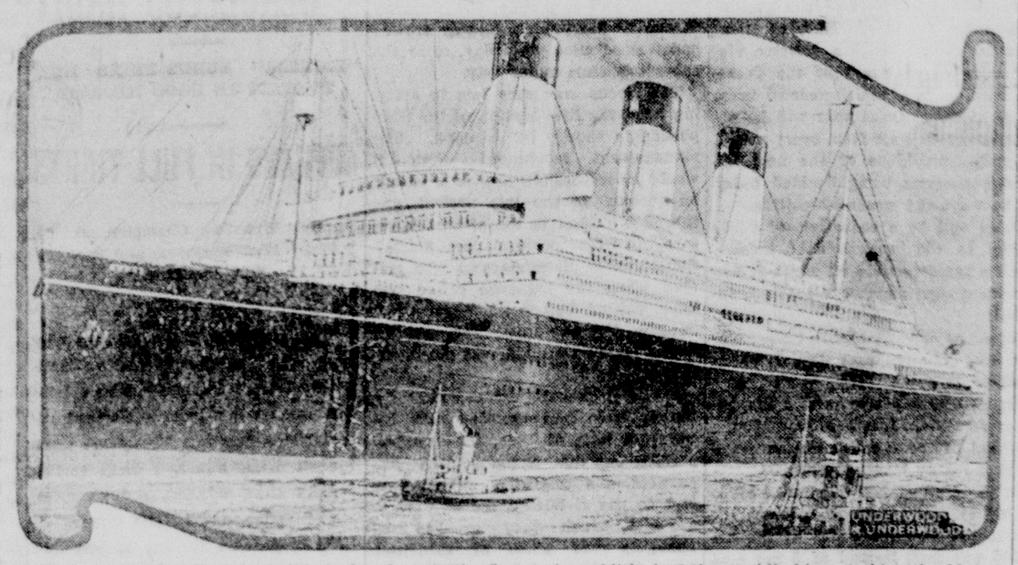
Majestic, the Largest Ship in the World



This picture, based on the builder's drawings, is the first to be published of the world's biggest ship—the Majestic, now being completed at Hamburg. The Majestic registers 56,000 tons—about 50 times as large as any of the packet ships of a century ago and nearly equal to the entire tonnage of the 132 ships which formed the famed Spanish armada. Its dimensions: length overall, 956 feet; breadth, 100 feet; draft, 40 feet. It will accommodate 3,536 passengers, and will carry a crew of 1,200. How "Farmer" Burns Put Billy Sunday's Shoulders To The Mat

The match took place in "Bill's" room in the Loyal Hotel in Omaha There was no referee and no managers. It was strictly private.

The "farmer" called to pay his respects to "Billy" and told him he considered him the past, present and future champion religious wrestler of the world and that the devil hasn't a chance in any match between the two.

As soon as his visitor had introduced himself "Billy" was all enthusiasm. He fired volleys of questions at the "farmer." He entered into the science of training with the greatest vim. The "farmer" finally had to strip off coat and shirt and exhibit his muscles to the evangelist, who felt them and looked and wondered and complimented.

He asked the wrestler about his various matches and about his methods of training Gotch to be champion of the world.

And finally "Billy" took off his coat and vest and shoes and had the "farmer" show him the toe hold and the hammer hold and the scissors hold and all the other holds.

Time after time the "farmer" put "Billy" on his back and brought his two shoulder blades in contact with the "mat".

"You've got me. You've got me I can't move a muscle," was "Billy's" repeated ejaculation as the great wrestler laid the great evanglist away. And then he'd laugh and ask for a demonstration of some other hold.

"Billy" got so interested that he nearly forgot to go to the Tabernacle.

Speaking of the "farmer" afterwards, "Billy" was enthusiastic. "He's the most wonderful developed man in the world," he declared. "Why the tendons of his legs are like steel hands. I felt 'em.

"And he's never drank, smoked chewed or swore in his life. That shows what a clean life will do for the body.

"He's got brains too, to back up his strength. His brains helped him to make Gotch a world Champion. He trained Gotch to wrestle sideways. All the other wrestlers wrestled face to face. They were slow. You can see that Hackenschmidt and all those ducks are slow. They're not like prize fighters. Prize fighters are always right up on edge, but most wrestlers are slow and deliberate.

"Burns trained Gotch to think quick. He made him a regular Ty Cobb for thinking quick. And wrestling with one side presented to his opponent allowed him to rest one side of his body while the other side was fighting. Burns is the greatest —."

At this moment "Ma" entered the room and got the "better half hold" on "Billy" and swung him around and out into the hall.

It was time for "Billy to go to the tabernacle and wrestle with the devil, and "Ma" was not going to let him be late, but as he passed down in the elevator he continued his remarks with great enthusiasm—"Yes, indeed, I considered the "Farmer" the very greatest athlete that ever lived."

Washington, Aug. 10.—"Don't marry a dude—a jelly fish—a tryant—a pig—a Polly parrot—a hypocrite—a despiser of religion, or a bump on a log."

This is what the Rev. Dr. Charles A. Shreve, pastor of McKendree Methodist Episcopal Church, tells young women about to be married.

"Look for good nature, noble purpose, sympathy, industry, courage intelligence, perseverance and a big heart full of love to God and man and you. Be sure you choose the right man. The Bible says: "God made man upright, but they have sought out many inventions." You want to get one of the kind that God made and not one of the inventions. There are a great many more of the inventions than there are real men, and it is not always an easy matter to distinguish them. They dress like men, talk like men and look like men but when their inner traits of character and their habits of life begin to appear they are seen to be inventions."

To Young Men.

" 'It is not good for man to be alone.' Every man fit to have a wife ought to marry. Be sure you are right, then go ahead. And I sometimes quote to him the following from Jeremy Taylor: 'If you are for pleasure, marry; if you prize rosy health, marry; a good wife is heaven's last best gift to man; his angel of mercy; minister of graces innumerable; his gem of many vitues; his casket of jewels. Her voice his sweetest music; her smile his brightest day; her kiss the guardian of innocence; her industry his surest wealth; her economy his safest steward; her lips his faithful counselors; her bosom the sofest pillow of his cares; and her prayers the ablest advocates of heaven's blessings on his head.'

Avoid Silly Woman.

"Don't marry a silly woman. Don't marry a gossip, a busybody, a gadabout, a butterfly, nor an inveterate talker. Don't marry a pair of eyes. There should be a good deal more to a wife than that. Seek a woman who has some idea of the purpose of a woman's life—a lover of home and children and God; and one who believes you are the one man for her husband.

"And I say to them both: Establish a home of your own. You may not be able to purchase a house, but in a rented room or two you can have your home—your nest. Have no outsiders in it unless it be an aged or a dependent person, in which case there should be an understanding beforehand. 'Home is a little hollow scooped out of the windy hill of the world, where we can be shielded from its cares and annoyances.'

Then you will have to learn to live together. Remember that you are alike in one respect only, i. e. your love for each other. Possibly in every other respects you are very different. Harmonizing these differences in such a manner as to strengthen love instead of wrecking it is a fine art. Much unhappiness and numerous divorces have occurred at this point. Suddenly realizing the presence of hitherto unnoticed traits, the man or the woman, or both, sometimes fly into a panic, conclude that they have made a mistake, speak hot words and separate. The divorce mill then grinds up love's sweet dream, and nothing but ashes remains. There is no need for this. If you will be patient with each other's faults, respect each other's rights and tastes, forgive each other's sins and study each other's needs you will soon be welded together with bonds of mutual understanding and sympathy and love.

Pull Together.

"You must pull together for one goal. If a woman wants a separate career for herself she ought never to marry. After marriage she should enter heart and sould, body and mind into the career of her husband. He has no time to run two establishments, nor to have a divided mind. He must pursue his chosen calling in life, and he has married her for a helpmate. If you ever have a quarrel see which can be the first to make up. Never divulge each other's weaknesses. Keep up your honeymoon. Take trips together. Read books together. Sing, play, work and pray together.

"Begin to make plans for the coming of the children—the crowning blessings of the home. Brighter than the wedding morn, happier than the honeymoon are the birthdays of the children. No home can ever be complete without them. They are the flowers in the garden of love. 'Happy is the man that hath his quiver full of them.' Love will grow as the children come, and the laughter of the little ones will furnish the sweetest music for happy married life."

WOMEN CONTINUALLY OVERDO.

This applies to all women, regardless of caste or color. The ambitious girl striving for school honors, the overworked housewife, the shop girl, girls in offices and stores, and the society woman, all climb too high, overtax their strength, and what follows? Nervous prostration, sleeplessness, backache, headaches, and the inevitable weakness and ailments peculiar to their sex soon develop, which unless checked bring on more serious conditions, and which often lead to operations. An efficient restorative for such ailments is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is now recognized from coast to coast as a standard remedy for woman's ill. —Adv.

An Arabian Proverb

He who knows and knows not that he knows is asleep. Awaken him.

He who knows not and knows that he knows not is simple. Teach him.

He who knowns not and knows not that he knows not is a fool. Shun him.

He who knows and knows that he knows is wise. Follow him unto the end.

The Art of Industry

A PROMINENT editorial writer says that the records of Caruso's wonderful voice will be enjoyed for a thousand years, and that this is close to immortality.

This wonderful heritage for posterity is made possible by the art of industry.

But the art of industry has accomplished other things as well.

Sixty years ago men found oil in quantities, from which they produced light.

The Standard Oil Company took that oil and, in addition to light, produced from it, power, and lubricants for the parts which transmit the power—not to mention hundreds of other useful products.

Fifty years ago people were delighted with the oil which gave them abundant light; but none could foresee the development which this "Rock Oil" would make possible.

It was the vision and courage of the men who founded the Standard Oil Company that made it possible for the automotive industry to come into being.

It is the ability of the men who manage the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) of today that has made it possible for the automobile to develop from the clumsy vehicle of twenty years ago to the smoothly-driven machine of today.

For the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) constantly anticipated demand and produced gasoline of such quality, and in such quantity, and distributed it in a manner so thorough, that the automotive manufacturer could produce in large enough quantities to keep his product within the range of the modest purse.

The art of industry is exemplified in the achievements of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), which will live for centuries and benefit posterity in a practical way, as the perpetuation of Caruso's voice will benefit in an aesthetic way.

A statement issued by the merchants exchange in St. Louis says that nearly five and one-half million more bushels of wheat were received at St. Louis this year than last. The statement does not make any comparison of prices nor does it state that one chief reason for the large receipts at St. Louis was the excessive freight rates that made it impossible for grain growers to ship to Chicago or eastern markets. The statement declares the record is a rebuke to the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., in which organization is named only by reference. It does not make any prediction as to what will happen now that economic conditions have forced farmers to turn over to speculators and grain gamblers almost their entire 1921 crop.

Permanent organization of the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation is to be effected at meetings held August 9 and 10 at Little Rock.

The DeWitt Clinton was on its way to Chicago, where it will be one of the features of the Pageant of Progress exposition. Of course, it ran only a few miles under its own steam.

SON SEEKS TO BREAK WILL OF THADDEUS ANDERSON

Alleges Late Wealthy Resident of Burlington Junction Was Under Another Son's Influence.

Suit has been filed in the federal court in St. Joseph by Loren Anderson against his brother, Ulysses A. Anderson and the Farmers' Trust Company of Maryville, contesting the will of his father, Thaddeus Anderson, who died at Burlington Junction, Feburary 10, last. According to the petition the value of the estate is $125,600. The will provides that Loren Anderson should receive the interest from a trust fund of $36,000 and that at his death the trust fund should revert to his brother.

Thaddeus Anderson was an old settler of Nodaway County and was eighty-three years old at his death. The will was drawn April 2, 1920. The petition sets forth that on account of age and disease, the father was of unsound mind at the time, and was under influence of his son, Ulysses. The plaintiff asks for half the estate, claiming as his share more than $60,000.

All the parties to the suit are residents of Nodaway County.

"There's No Place Like Colorado After All"

Colorado is as big as all New England, with Indiana added; two-thirds is mountainous — 100,000 square miles contain 155 peaks that are more than 13,000 feet high. Within the state there are 500 lakes — large and small; 6,000 miles of running water, born of snow and filled with fish. Mineral springs abound — no-one knows how many there are. Every railroad line is an excursion line. Motor highways radiate in all directions.

Where to go? There are a thousand different places. In two hours from the haunts of civilization, where splendid hotels, dancing, music, and golf reign supreme, back to the wildest, untamed mountain fastness, where the silence is broken only by plunging waterfalls, the songs of birds or the splash of trout.

When to go? Any time! This summer, when seeking escape from the dust and heat, go out under that magnificent cool, blue Colorado sky. Get the tang of the mountain air in your nostrils—the fragrance of the flowers and the spicy smell of pine.

How to go? Just climb aboard a Burlington limited. "There's No Place Like Colorado, After All!"

Suppose you come in and we'll talk over your summer vacation-recreation plans.

LECTURER SEES A WORLD DEMOCRACY

A LEAGUE INEVITABLE

International Cooperation for Self Protection is Coming Regardless of Politics

How the tidal wave of democracy is affecting politics, religion, education, industry and every phase of human activity was shown yesterday afternoon at chautauqua, in a lecture by Dr. David D. Vaughan, a speaker of unusual power, clear, logical and forceful, combined with a personality that not only pleases but impresses.

At present, Dr. Vaughan is professor of social service, Boston University, and the theme of his address was "The World Sweep of Democracy." The speaker pointed out that a brief extensive survey shows the whole world in a state of fermentation; Korea, restless and under the heel of Japan, China a republic after centuries of despotism; Japan slowly formenting revolution under the most autocratic and militaristic despotism; India chafing under English domination; Australia and New Zealand with labor in the saddle; Egypt, exacting liberal concessions from the British government; Ireland, persistent in its demands for self determination; Spain full of the spirit of Syndicalism; Persia, republic; Italy just finishing a successful usurpation of power by the workers who secured control of factories, and finally compromised with greater concessions than they hoped to realize, Germany, socialistic; Denmark, Belgium, Norway and Sweden heading the same way; Russia, Bolshevistic; England, those once conservative are now liberals, the liberal has become a radical, and the radicals are actually working with a show of success. In America, radicalism has probably taken root and growing.

With this world survey spread before his audience, Dr. Vaughan went on to discuss democracy in its intensive complications, showing the evolution of man's appreciation of his own worth, beginning with the ministry of Jesus 1921 years ago, and how democracy has affected various phases of human activity.

Touching upon art, artists no longer paint pictures of royality and nobility, but common people at their every day tasks, such as "The Man with the Hoe" and "The Angelus" and "The Gleaners," these representing this tendency. The same is true of literature, and the drama. Men once chose their heroes and heroines from the artistocratic group, from nobility. Now in such books as "The Man from Home," "The Inside of the Cup," and "The Lick and the Mouse," it is the obscure individual with real character who is made superior to the insolent aristocrat.

The evolution of the drama is manifested by comparing the plays, showing a decline of those portraying aristocracy and the advance of others dealing with lowly service. The privilege of the drama has been democratic by moving pictures. Once it was only the privilege of a few living in a city to see the great play, now it is possible by the use of films to send to obscure hamlets in frontier communities.

Education likewise, has been democratized. It was once the privilege of a few. In every English village years ago, only one man in the village could read. That was the clergyman, and this gave him such distinction, that he was called "The Person," afterwards corrupted to "Parson." Now, education is compulsory and has become a necessity for the masses. It once had an aristocracy of subjects, a so-called classical course. The spirit of democracy has insisted on utility and we have manual training, home economics, etc.

Democracy's effect on religion was the next aspect considered by Dr. Vaughan and in this field a most potent influence has been exercised Man's concept of God was derived from the oriental potentates, and theology started with universal damnation of the book of humanity. Exceptions were made by certain privileged individuals, salvation came by race, then by an institution that held a monopoly, then election, and horrible teachings resulted from these various theories.

Jesus opposed this idea of God as an arbitrary tyrant, and his conception of "God the Father" has developed very largely democratic tendencies. The churches of today are stretching the Kingdom of God idea, and they insist that it should be a present reality. They insist that the church has a task with the community as well as the individual. These liberal ideals are bringing the democratization closely together, and making tolerance and co-operation more manifest.

We see the democratic tendency in a universal insistence on material things. The toiler wants a piano, and an auto, a good house of his own Whether we like it or not, we might as well recognize the fact, that he is determined to have it. In industry, we find an insistence on democratic representation. This is manifested through labor unions, shop committee movements, etc., extending to include a division of profits it finds expression in the co-operative movement and in socialism.

In politics, the spirit of democracy expresses itself in the demand of the demand of the initiative and referendum, the recall, unrest among the negroes, recent conferences of women, all representing the same idea of individual respect for his own personality with the logical demand for recognition. Whether one agrees with President Wilson or Senator Lodge does not effect the issue, for democracy is bound eventually to express itself intensively in some form of a League of Nations as we have evolved away from the single giant in the jungle with the big club, also evolving away from the giant nation attempting to dominate the world by jungle, brute force.

International co-operation for self-protection is inevitable and all these tendencies, extensive and intensive represent the spirit of Bobby Burns, the spirit of democracy.

"For a' that and a' that,
It's coming yet for a' that,
That man to man the world o'er shall brothers be, for a' that."
